Traffic Deaths Begin Climb As Labor Day Holiday Opens

Americans Flood Hiways For Weekend

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Labor Day weekend traffic deaths, running on a grim "schedule," climbed steadily upward Saturday as millions of Americans flooded the nation's highways to take advantage of the long holiday.

A safety expert predicted the automobile slaughter would surpass all records for the holiday "unless motorists increase their caution."

By 9 p. m., EST, 109 traffic deaths had been reported. There were 14 by drowning and 16 from other causes, raising the overall accident death total to 139.

The National Safety Council has estimated that 480 lives will be lost in motor vehicle accidents in the period that began at 6 p. m.—local time—Friday and will end at midnight Monday.

A council spokesman checked the trend Saturday and remarked that it was "running distressingly on schedule."

The council's advance estimate—if borne out—would break the record for slaughter on the streets and highways during a Labor Day weekend.

Scattered areas of rain in the eastern half of the country Saturday may have slowed the rush of people going places on the last holiday of the summer season. But fair and dry weather was forecast for most of the nation for the balance of the weekend.

The record traffic toll for a Labor Day weekend was set in 1951. It was 461—19 under the council's prediction for the current holiday period.

The record traffic toll for any holiday period was set during the three-day Christmas period in 1955. It was 609.

For the purpose of making comparisons when all the returns are in, the Associated Press made a survey of accident fatalities during a non-holiday period. It was a 78-hour stretch—the same time span as in the Labor Day weekend—from 6 p. m. Friday, Aug. 17 to midnight Monday, Aug. 20.

The deaths then numbered 366 in traffic, 77 by drowning and 69 in the miscellaneous bracket for a total of 512.

The record over-all accident fatality total for a Labor Day weekend is 658. It was set in 1951. The record over-all total for any holiday period is 805. That mark was set in three-day Independence Day celebration in 1955.

Missouri Hiway Death Toll Nears '55 Mark For Labor Day Holiday

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Labor Day weekend traffic death toll for Missouri rocketed today to within one of last year's 12-dead total with almost two and a half days still to go.

The grim rate came despite the calling out of the Missouri National Guard and warnings to drive safely.

Four of the victims died within six hours of the weekend's start at 6 p. m. Friday.

The total of 11 already had equaled the figure for a recent sample weekend in the state.

Eight of the deaths occurred in outstate Missouri and three in St. Louis and St. Louis County.

City Council Meeting Is Changed to Tuesday

The Sedalia City Council will hold its regular meeting on Tuesday night instead of Monday due to the Labor Day holiday.

Always a Catch to It

The weatherman promises a pleasant weekend. He makes no mention of how much good sense will be used on the highway. Guess that's up to you.

Fair and warmer today and tonight; Monday becoming partly cloudy; high today in lower 90s.

The temperature Saturday was 55 at 7 a. m. and 83 at 1 p. m. The low Friday night was 52.

Wants 'Progressive' Government--

Meany Appeals for Political Action by Organized Labor

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1 (AP)—President George Meany of the AFL-CIO today issued a Labor Day message appealing for union political action to achieve "more progressive" government.

Without alluding to this week's top-level AFL-CIO endorsement of Adlai Stevenson, the Democratic presidential nominee, Meany said the big labor organization is convinced America "needs more progressive and forward-looking government."

Similarly, William F. Schnitzler, secretary-treasurer of the AFL-CIO said labor will "put the greatest individual weapon of free men—the ballot—to its proper use and select as our public officials men of vision, dedicated to the public welfare." He added:

"Our efforts, we are confident, will result in victory."

A Labor Day statement also was issued by John S. Colemann, president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States. But this made no reference to politics.

Speaking of the workman, Coleman said:

"As we continue to prosper, we come to understand more and more fully that his freedom, enterprise, his superb technical skill, are basic to all our economic blessings."

The progress of the American worker, he said, is "convincing all men, still free to think for themselves, that economic freedom can break the chains of want."

In still another holiday message, President Al Hayes of the International Assn. of Machinists, called for strenuous union efforts to root out "wrongdoing" wherever it is found in union ranks. Our internal enemies are no less dangerous than those who attack labor from outside," he said. "Both can destroy us if we do not defeat them."

Infant Snatched From Carriage In Connecticut

HAMDEN, Conn., Sept. 1 (AP)—The 6-week-old daughter of a tragedy-riddled couple was kidnapped today from her carriage outside a crowded department store where her mother was shopping.

"It doesn't seem to be a kidnapping for ransom," said State's Atty. Abraham S. Ullman. "It looks like it was done by a person who wanted a baby."

Police said they suspected a stocky, dark-complexioned young woman of taking baby-eyed, brown-haired Cynthia Ruotolo. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Steve Ruotolo, who have also an 8-year-old boy and 19-month-old daughter. Two previous children died, one in an accident; the other of pneumonia.

Left-Handed Students Will Make Difference In School House Plans

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1 (AP)—Eleven per cent of the nation's school children are left-handed, the U.S. Office of Education reported today, and this will make a difference in future school house plans.

"School architects, designers and manufacturers of school furniture and equipment and school administrators are planning changes and improvements in school facilities," the office said in forecasting another record enrollment "included in this planning are provisions for the 11 per cent of the nation's children who are left handed."

What's Going on Here?

THE LEGION COMES TO TOWN—The American Legion's national convention doesn't begin its official activities until next week, but citizens of Los Angeles know the convention's horseplay department is in town. This self-appointed traffic director in the odd getup is Dick Quigley, Miami. (AP Wirephoto)

'I CAN'T BELIEVE IT'—Miss Janice Fowler, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Fowler, Route 3, Sedalia, shouted when L. C. Carpenter, Commissioner of Agriculture of Missouri, announced the winner of the Queen contest before the crowd of 4,000 at the Jennie Jaynes Stadium Friday night. The young lady was overwhelmed as Commissioner Carpenter placed the crown upon Queen Janice. (Democrat-Capital photo)

Master Control Sticks--

Ten-Minute Stop Sends Clock Customers to the Telephone

Approximately 60 clocks in downtown Sedalia became stuck at 11 o'clock Saturday morning and the telephone company's switchboards lighted up as the reports piled into the Western Union office.

J. G. Stinnett, Western Union manager, explained that the master clock in his office had had some minor mechanical trouble and that, therefore, the clocks it controlled throughout the business section had stopped at the same time.

In ten minutes he had the clocks running again, and there was a fresh flood of calls as customers told him that their clocks were going now and asked what should be done to reset them to make up for the ten minutes lost.

For the mechanically minded, the instructions were simple: Just remove the cover and turn the hands of the clock to the correct time. For the others, the instructions were even simpler: "We'll be up to take care of it."

Stinnett later explained that the time report originally comes from the U.S. Naval Observatory at Annapolis and is telegraphed to him three minutes before the hour and he corrects the master clock every hour on the hour. This automatically corrects all the customers' clocks connected to it. Stinnett said that the customers' clocks are battery-operated and that the wire running out of each one is only the line which connects with the correction device on his master clock. The master clock will correct any time lag up to two minutes.

The manager said he also lets Marshall and Boonville know about the correct time each hour when the signal from the Naval Observatory comes in, in addition to keeping watch over the Sedalia clocks. He said his master clock, unlike the solid pendulum in the customers' clocks, has a mercury pendulum which is so accurate that the clock will vary only up to three seconds a month.

Delegates of Five Nations Meet Egypt's Nasser Today

Speaks in Ottumwa, Iowa--

Truman Says GOP Leadership Is Bad News for US Farmers

OTTUMWA, Iowa (AP)—Former President Harry S. Truman said today a Republican administration in Washington "is always bad news for the American farmer."

"We can get out the vote in November and get Benson (secretary of agriculture) and Eisenhower off the back of the American farmer," he said in a talk prepared for a Democratic rally for farmers and labor.

It was Truman's first 1956 campaign speech. He had said he would speak only at the request of the Democratic National Committee, and that the committee had asked him to make two or three addresses a week throughout the presidential campaign.

Declaring Republican administrations do not work for the best interests of agriculture, Truman said:

"There was a generation of farmers not so long ago that learned this fact all too well from cruel experience. This was the generation that struggled through the agricultural depression of the 1920s with Harding and Coolidge and Hoover—those earlier Republican apostles of flexibility."

"They vetoed farm bills, just as Eisenhower has done. They regarded hard times as the normal condition for the American farmer, just as Eisenhower and Benson do."

Truman, who tried unsuccessfully to get the Democratic presidential nomination for Gov. Averell Harriman of New York, praised Adlai E. Stevenson as "a real fighter" who won the nomination "fairly and squarely."

He described Estes Kefauver, vice-presidential candidate, as

"another champion of the people's welfare" who deserves "the support of all the farm states."

"Ever since Eisenhower came in," Truman said, "the big city papers have been running a campaign against the farmer. The editorial writers have been taking their signals from the Madison Avenue boys... The farmer has been depicted as a sort of bum, begging for a handout—a man without self-respect, a loafer who wants to live at the expense of the rest of the public."

Sends Patrol, Guard Units To Clinton

Board of Aldermen Asks Help, Forms 'Vigilante' Force

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Sept. 1 (AP)—Gov. Frank Clement ordered 100 highway patrolmen to Clinton, Tenn., tonight to be followed in 24 hours by units of the National Guard to restore order to the mob-ridden community.

Both city and county officials formally called on Gov. Clement to send help to prevent a segregation rally tonight from turning into another reign of terror like that which rocked the town last night.

The Clinton Board of Aldermen adopted a resolution today declaring a state of emergency, calling on the state for help and summoning a meeting of citizens to assist officers of the law.

It was at the citizens meeting that 21 volunteer "vigilantes" were sworn in as special, temporary police to help regular officers. With the regular force boosted to 10 today, the "vigilantes" raised the Clinton force to 31. In addition there are eight deputy sheriffs.

After the citizens meeting, Mayor W. E. Lewallen said he had asked Gov. Clement by telephone to send help, preferably "state highway patrolmen, because they can reach us faster."

He said Clement told him the patrolmen "were standing by and were much closer to us than we realized." He quoted Clement as saying the state attorney general had to pass on use of state troops.

Clement could not be located in Nashville, but a high administrative source indicated some action on the appeals from here would be taken.

In addition to the formal calls for help, Mayor Lewallen's son, Buford Lewallen, chartered a plane in early afternoon to fly to Nashville for a personal conference with the governor. Buford Lewallen, a Clinton attorney, is former speaker of the Tennessee House of Representatives.

Even as the citizens meeting was being held in Clinton, Anderson County Sheriff Glad Woodward formally requested aid in a telegram to Clement.

Clinton High registered 15 Negroes for classes under federal court orders, but only 12 were enrolled among the 796 white pupils when school opened last Monday. Since then crowds and violence have increased daily.

Clinton is the first state supported secondary school to be integrated in Tennessee.

Main Emphasis Is on Peaceful Negotiations

CAIRO, Egypt, Sept. 1 (AP)—Delegates from five nations east and west of Suez converge on Egypt tomorrow for canal crisis talks in which the Egyptians have been urged by Soviet Russia to refuse compromise.

The five-nation mission, headed by Australian Prime Minister Robert G. Menzies, will try to determine how far President Gamal Abdel Nasser is willing to go toward acceptance of a Western proposal to put the Suez Canal under international control.

While saber-rattling could be heard in the background, the emphasis in the center of the stage was on peaceful negotiations.

The Menzies mission represents 18 of the 22 nations which took part in the London Suez Conference. Most of these 18 also advocate a peaceful settlement of the dispute, though Britain and France are strengthening their Mediterranean forces in what they call a precautionary move.

President Eisenhower Friday gave his support to Egyptian hopes for a peaceful settlement with his statement recognizing Egyptian sovereignty over the Suez Canal while urging guarantees for international usage of the waterway. Egyptian observers said Eisenhower appeared to open the door for serious talks.

Eisenhower gave the Egyptians the impression he was not insisting on any particular solution being adopted, but genuinely was seeking a peaceful solution.

A similar attitude has been expressed from the other side of the fence by India's V. K. Krishna Menon. Although he was the architect of the London conference minority plan advocating only international advice for Egypt in running the canal, Menon this week declared he was not pressing Nasser to accept any specific plan.

At the same time Egyptians close to Nasser say he is eager to open doors to find some solution consistent with Egyptian sovereignty.

Cairo newspapers forecast the talks will last about a week. They said Nasser will meet the Menzies mission in his office Monday with Foreign Minister Mahmoud Fawzi and his foreign affairs adviser, Wing Cmdr. Ali Sabry, in attendance. Sabry was his observer at the London conference, which Egypt boycotted.

"Nasser is ready to talk, talk, to negotiate, to explore, to do everything possible to solve this problem peacefully," an Egyptian source said, "although he can not compromise on Egyptian sovereignty."

Contrasting with these mild words were signs of trouble from countries at the opposite poles of the crisis.

Britain has granted France the right to move troops to Cyprus, 250 miles off Egypt's north coast and both countries have announced a continued buildup in the eastern Mediterranean.

At the other extreme, Soviet Ambassador E. D. Kisselev paid his 18th call on Nasser since the Suez crisis began, to urge him to stand firm on the Menon plan and to resist Western proposals. Moscow statements have hinted that in the event the Western powers used force, Egypt "would not fight alone."

Women's Democratic Clubs Will Hold Annual Convention

The Missouri Federation of Women's Democratic Clubs will hold its 25th annual convention at Jefferson City Sept. 9 and 10, according to an announcement by Mrs. Sallie Hailey, president.

Democratic leaders, including state candidates will attend, as well as former President Harry S. Truman, who is scheduled to be the guest speaker at the barbecue. Other officials will be featured on different parts of the program which begins with registration Sunday afternoon. Business sessions start at 9 a. m. on Monday. A luncheon and barbecue will be part of the program open to delegates and visitors as well as other entertainment.

Lt. Gov. Blair will be the guest speaker at the luncheon. Information may be obtained from Mrs. H. F. McClellan, convention chairman, General Delivery, Jefferson City.

5-Year-Old Survives Fall From Automobile

KIRKSVILLE, Mo., (AP)—Shirley Beth Vincent, 5, fell from a car traveling 60 miles an hour Friday and escaped with leg fractures and a possible head injury. Her father, George Vincent of Kirksville, said he was driving close to the road shoulder when the child opened the door and tumbled out north of here on Highway 63.

Gas Industry Has New Type Of Cooling

One of the most exciting searches in history is currently being conducted by the giant gas industry to find the best all-around air conditioning system possible.

Gas companies in half the 48 states are field testing revolutionary new gas air conditioning units in sections of the nation where the severest climatic conditions prevail.

One such unit will run for five full cooling seasons (10,000 hours) without major overhauling, and more than 2,000 hours without servicing. Best of all, operating costs (including gas, electricity and water) are half the cost of a typical electrical system.

Prototype models of the 150 units already produced and being field tested, include a gas heat pump, improved absorption type equipment, and a gas air conditioning system powered by a gas engine.

In addition to evaluating the different methods now available, the gas industry is sponsoring the most intensive research program ever conducted on air conditioning.

Such outstanding research organizations as Battelle Memorial Institute, Johns Hopkins, Arthur D. Little, Inc., the Institute of Gas Technology, Stanford Research Institute, and the American Gas Association Laboratories are conducting experiments with gas energized jet, double-loop, and absorption cycles, packaged engine compressor units, and gas external and internal combustion systems.

Predictions are that within the near future the American public, seeking the finest year-round air conditioning on the market—from the standpoint of comfort, economy and efficiency—will find the answer with gas.

Senator Says Time Is Near for Another Summit Conference

WASHINGTON Sept. 1. (AP) — Sen. Mansfield (D-Mont.) said today the time "is here or near" for another summit conference to explore prospects for peace and an end of the atomic arms race.

Mansfield, an influential member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said he hopes "someone" among the major powers will take the initiative in exploratory talks at the ambassadorial level.

He told a reporter Russia's two most recent atomic tests, the latest one announced only yesterday by President Eisenhower, point up his contention that the time is ripe or nearly so for further face to face talks among chiefs of state similar to last year's summit talks at Geneva.

"I don't look upon the Geneva talks as a failure," Mansfield said "although I also believe they did not live up to our hopes and expectations."

"If we keep up this thermo-nuclear weapons race, something is going to slip and then God help us," he said. "The people are aware of this, and I sincerely hope that those who have the responsibility of governing nations are as fully aware."

Mrs. J. M. Palmer

On the Go With Jo—

Green Ridge Correspondent Has Busy and Full Schedule

By JOELLA BRERETON

The house of Mrs. J. M. Palmer, Sedalia Democrat-Capital correspondent in Green Ridge, sits on a large, fenced-in lawn where flowers bloom in profusion and a garden grows.

Mrs. Palmer, who has lived in Green Ridge for 36 years, is known as Verna to her many friends. She and her husband were married in Windsor in November, 1917, after knowing each other in Lincoln, where her parents had lived until four months before the wedding.

Both of her sons are career men in the Air Force and are both overseas at this writing. One son, M-Sgt. Harold A. Palmer, who has been in the service for 17 years, was stationed in Weisbaden, Germany, and then was transferred to Asahi Air Force Base in Japan. He is married and has one daughter. The youngest son, T-Sgt. Vernon E. Palmer, who has been in ten years, is now stationed in Weisbaden after being transferred from Japan. He and his wife and family make their home in California state. Harold is home this month after two years in Japan, and Vernon will be home in November. But it has been ten years since both were home together.

But Mrs. Palmer says she isn't like a lot of women and mothers who can find nothing to do after the children grow up. She is program chairman of the Green Ridge Garden Club, a post she has held for three years, and makes up the yearbook as one of her duties. This year she found appropriate pieces of poetry to put above each program schedule.

Gardening and growing things are her hobbies, with a large garden of flowers from which she selects flowers to exhibit at the State Fair each year and many indoor plants and vines. African violets are her indoor favorite, and roses are favorite outside.

She is the leader of the Esther Circle of the Presbyterian Church, of which she and her husband are members. She is also active in Rebekah Lodge and is presently serving as secretary. She is a past Noble Grand of the old Green Ridge Rebekah Lodge, disbanded during the depression, and also of the new lodge, which was organized 11 years ago. She is Past District President of Sedalia District No. 31 of Rebekah Lodges, and was appointed District Deputy by the state president, Mrs. Helen Payne, for 1956. As District Deputy, she installs the new officers of the lodges in her district.

She and her husband redecorated the house recently, doing most of the work themselves. On the walls of her house are framed pictures, and they look like paintings, but which Mrs. Palmer has embroidered. She enjoys sewing, making most of her own clothes. Although she has a deep freezer, Mrs. Palmer still does canning and always keeps a full stock of canned vegetables and fruits, as well as preserves and jellies.

Mid-America Jubilee Opens In St. Louis

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Since 1904 there's been nothing in this river town to match it.

The Mid-America Jubilee, St. Louis' first crack at a show this size since the 1904 World's Fair, opened its doors for a month-long stand on the Mississippi's riverfront Saturday.

It really got going Friday night when a crowd estimated by police at 125,000 jammed downtown streets and levees to watch a mass torchlight parade and floating fireworks display.

When the marchers reached the brightly lit jubilee gates, the torches were doused and a $5,000 hail of rockets, flares and comets was fired from barges in the river.

An estimated half million persons are expected to pass through the gates during the month-long stand. It's planned as an annual event.

Agricultural exhibits, fashion shows inside a 100-foot geodesic dome, an old-fashioned beer garden and carnival rides for the children are included inside the jubilee grounds.

A spectacle show, "Heartland U. S. A.," will be presented nightly.

10-Year-Old Holstein Is Grand Champion

HOUSTON, Mo., (AP)—A $190,000 bond issue for a Texas County hospital was approved in a special election Friday by a margin of 3 to 1. The vote was 3,928 to 1,353.

The county hopes to get $200,000 from the federal government and $10,000 from the state for a total of $400,000 to spend on a 35-bed hospital.

Women Get New Benefit From SS Law

By Scott Webber
District Manager
Sedalia Social Security Office

The new Social Security law, as it applies to women age 62 and over, really falls into three separate classes — working women, wives, and widows or dependent mothers.

If you are a working woman, you may become entitled to social security benefits at any time you choose after you reach age 62 instead of having to wait until you reach 65, however, if you decide to take the payments before age 65, the amount of the monthly benefit you receive on your own record will be permanently reduced.

If you are the wife of a man who is getting social security retirement benefits, you may become entitled to a wife's insurance benefit at any time you choose after reaching age 62. A permanent reduction if you apply before 65 is also made on wives' benefits.

If your husband dies you may become entitled to social security payments as a widow at age 62, and no reduction will be made. Also, if you are the mother of an insured worker who dies, having no widow, widower, or child who could get monthly social security benefits, and your deceased son or daughter was furnishing at least half of your support, you may become entitled to social security benefits at age 62, and no reduction in rate is made. If you are either the widow or dependent mother of an insured worker who has died, you should contact the Sedalia Social Security Office and file claim at once, or see the representative when he visits your community.

To speed the handling of her case, a widow should be prepared to furnish her marriage certificate, and proof of her age. A birth certificate is not required; if you do not have one, a baptismal certificate, insurance policy, or other old document which clearly shows the age of the applicant is acceptable. A dependent mother must furnish proof of age, and documents to establish that the deceased son or daughter was furnishing at least half of her support.

Public Library Notes—

Latest Mystery and Western Books Are Added to Shelves

Mystery and Western fans are due for a treat, as the Sedalia Public Library added many titles of their favorite fare to the shelves this week.

The ever-popular Erle Stanley Gardner is represented by his latest, "The Case of the Demure Defendant," which is the 50th Perry Mason mystery, and for which the author has contrived a brilliant puzzle. The special salt-water tang that spices Robert P. Hansen's vigorous, realistic story-telling is present in his new one, "Murder Is Where You Find It."

The London Times finds "Madam, Will You Talk?" by Mary Stewart "an unusually accomplished and civilized piece of work that can be confidently recommended to all civilized palates." Mary Stewart has a keen wit, a zest for adventure, an eye for the details that turn "characters" into interesting memorable people.

Other new mysteries are "A Capital Offense" a witty and dynamic story by Jocelyn Davey; "Death in the Wind" by Edwin Lanham; "Inspector Morgan's Dilemma" by John Bingham, and "A Question

Mayor Gets Power to Ban Attendance

HAMILTON, Mo., (A) — Mayor V. H. Spanswick has acquired the power to ban anyone from regular city council meetings as a result of a long feud with the editor of this city's only newspaper.

The mayor said the board of aldermen passed an ordinance Thursday night giving him the power because "certain people" had been "interfering with the progress of council meetings."

The editor, Marion Ridings of the Advocate-Hamiltonian, a weekly, said the ordinance was aimed at him because of things he had printed about "incompetence" of the city's financial statement.

Ridings wasn't present when the ordinance was passed, but as soon as the action was taken the mayor "excused" Gene Barnes, an employee of the newspaper, and Ridings' attorney, O. C. Tee, from the council meeting.

Mayor Spanswick said Tee had interfered with council meetings "several times." He also accused Ridings of "interpreting the news too much" on city affairs and said the editor "did not print the news as it was."

Hamilton's population is about 1,880.

Spanswick took office in May 1955 as the city's first Democratic mayor in 20 years. The newspaper normally is Democratic, but did not support Spanswick in his campaign.

Ridings and four other citizens recently filed suit to compel the city to publish a full and detailed statement of city finances. The case is set for circuit court hearings Sept. 16.

The city officials, in a reply, contended the statement as published twice yearly was all the law required.

As for the mayor's charge of "interference" at council meetings, Ridings said there was only one such incident, last July 2. He said his attorney, Tee, tried to point out that the mayor had no right to vote on a certain matter.

"The mayor got mad," Ridings said, "started hollering and told the attorney to leave the council meeting. He didn't leave."

The new ordinance provides a maximum fine of $100 for non-compliance.

French Claim Rebels Receive Support

ALGIERS, Algeria (A) — French army headquarters said Saturday a post-mortem of a bloody encounter with Algerian nationalist forces two nights ago showed that the rebels are receiving substantial help from newly independent Morocco.

New fighting dotted the country, meanwhile. Two Frenchmen were killed and three injured when their helicopter apparently was forced down in rebel territory near Souma. The French said a dozen rebels were killed in a fight near Djebel Djoua and that there also were several other clashes, mostly in the Constantine area.

The French placed the dead in the battle Thursday night near the Moroccan frontier at 11 Frenchmen and 59 rebels.

French headquarters said an inspection of the battlefield revealed about 50 rebel guns, mostly modern army rifles. There were also a few hunting guns.

New Weapon on Jets—

Machine Gun Takes Place In the Age of Missiles

By Walter Dear
Democrat-Capital
Washington Bureau

ABERDEEN PROVING GROUND, Md.—In the age of missiles, the machine gun still ranks high as a military weapon.

It's a new kind of machine gun, though, a kind small boys will have to hear before they can catch the muted drill sound of the Air Force's Vulcan, for use by supersonic jets. Vulcan has just been unveiled here for the first time by the Air Force, Army Ordnance, and General Electric Company.

To contrast the 1956 version of a time-honored weapon, Army Ordnance officials lined up a 1903 Gatling machine gun, a hand-operated revolving gun which was revolutionary in its day. Alongside the Gatling was the sleek 1956 Vulcan, operated either electrically or hydraulically.

First, the 1903 gun which looks like an old fashioned cannon

Martha Raye's Second Divorce Suit Refused

SEBRING, Fla. (A) — Entertainer Martha Raye's second Florida attempt to get a divorce from Edward T. Begley was turned down Friday.

Judge William P. Allen said when the 39-year-old nightclub singer filed her petition Aug. 28 in Highlands County Circuit Court he did not know that another divorce petition she filed had been dismissed in Dade County Aug. 10.

Allen said "it could cause friction among judges of the state" if a custom sprang up of trying another judicial circuit instead of appealing dismissals to the State Supreme Court.

Circuit Judge Stanley Millidge dismissed Miss Raye's petition at Miami on grounds she did not satisfy Florida residential requirements.

Miss Raye contended, and Begley denied, that he left her. They were married in 1954.

To Be In Operation Three Nights—

Astronomy Club Will Set Up Telescope For General Public to View Planet Mars

By RUSSELL MAAG

Friday night, Sept. 7, will mark the time when the planet Mars will approach the Earth to within 34,700,000 miles. This is the closest the "red planet" has been to us since 1924. Mars can be seen rising on the eastern horizon about 7:45 p.m. and rises earlier each evening thereafter by approximately four minutes. In their eternal race around the Sun, the Earth overtakes its neighbor, Mars, at somewhat variable intervals of about two years and two months. The two planets are then closest together, and these approaches are called oppositions. Mars being then opposite the Sun as seen in our sky. As the Sun sets on the western horizon, Mars rises on the eastern horizon. Oppositions are not all equally favorable for observing Mars because of the eccentricity of its orbit, and at intervals of 15 to 17 years the planet comes to opposition when it is near perihelion, that is, closest to the Sun, and is then closest to the Earth. Amateur and professional astronomers all over the world will be directing telescopes to record feature markings on the planet at this close approach.

Due to the eccentricity of Mars orbit around the Sun and therefore to the Earth the variation in distance ranges from about 34,000,000 to 167,000,000 miles when it is farthest from the Sun and Earth. This large range between the closest and farthest positions accounts for an apparent angular diameter of the planet as seen with a telescope when farthest away to almost 25 seconds of arc when closest. This accounts then for the seemingly great range in the magnitude which roughly figures some 100 times brighter when closest to that magnitude when farthest away. On Sept. 7 the angular diameter as measured through the equator of Mars will be 24.8 seconds (the apparent area covered by the Moon when full against the sky background is about 30 minutes of arc or 1/2 degree. At the time of closest approach a magnifying power on a telescope of only 75 will show the disc of Mars as large as the Moon appears with the naked eye.

The southern hemisphere of Mars is presented to our view at this opposition. Spring season began in this hemisphere May 4, 1956, and summer will begin there Sept. 27, so at the time of opposition the season will be late spring. Members of the Sedalia Junior Astronomy Club have been observing Mars regularly the past several weeks and have had some excellent views of the planet with the new club telescope. At the time these observations were begun in early July the south polar region and prominent south polar cap were conspicuous. As the weeks have progressed until now, it was clearly evident that the polar cap was receding and is now quite small.

In the area where the polar cap was, when observations started, is a dark area which is becoming increasingly prominent. This is the famous "melting band" which is actually the results of "wetting" of the Martian soil from the melting ice cap layers of the polar region. Several prominent features have been regularly observed and during most nights' observing periods drawings to scale have been made of the observable features.

Some of these features were observed using various color filters which either gave more or less contrast or brought out or caused others to vanish depending on the color used. By a process of elimination and knowing what colors enhance or fade others it was possible to determine exactly what color one was seeing on the surface of the planet. A red filter brings out green, a blue one white and a green, yellow. Various shades of grey, green, brown and red were observed. White areas were from time to time observed which were probably tenuous clouds in the Martian atmosphere. At the time the observations began in July many of the features which are developing colors clearly (and some at the present time without using filters) were only shades of black to grey. This probably indicates that as the Martian spring progressed certain areas developed very low life forms of vegetation such as lichens or mosses. This development is not unlike that which takes place on our Earth with the coming of spring. No one has yet proved that what is observed on Mars is exactly the same biological or chemical processes which take place on the Earth. Only at such time when man can go in a space ship to see for himself — firsthand — can such hypotheses become fact.

As the summer season on Mars comes to a close, the areas which had shown up as shades of green, red or brown will gradually change to deeper shades of red to brown and finally to grey and black. By this time the northern hemisphere will be gradually tipping towards our line of sight and by October or November telescopic observations should show the beginning of a development of the north polar cap as fall and then winter approaches. By this time, however, the planet will have receded from the Sun and us so much as to make such observations quite difficult. It would probably require a larger telescope than the one owned by the astronomy club to see these changes.

These young astronomers have had a very enlightening experience in being able to view such phenomena on Mars as they have. One can read in many books which have been devoted to studies of Mars the changes which take place, however, to actually be able to see such things unfold before one's eye is indeed short of miraculous.

Over 1,000 Changes Made—

Post Office Department Completes Reorganization

The Post Office Department has virtually completed the biggest reorganization in American history. Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield said today.

"This enormous business type organization within government, the Post Office Department, has since 1933 undergone the biggest reorganization of its kind ever undertaken in this country, with more than 1,000 improvements introduced, representing many of the proven concepts of good business management," Summerfield said.

Typical of the changes, Summerfield reported, are the following:

1. Day-to-day postal administration has been decentralized from Washington to 15 regional and 91 district postal offices over the nation, with completion of installation of the 15th office in Wichita, Kan., Feb. 6, directing postal service in Kansas, Oklahoma and Nebraska.

2. Since 1933, the Post Office Department has added the equivalent of 20,000 new carriers, serving 5 million more families and 250,000 more business concerns.

3. More than 500,000 postal employees have been given the biggest program of benefits in civil service history, with higher pay based on the job performed rather than meaningless titles, free uniforms, group life insurance, liberalized pension provisions and many other benefits, supplemented with an enlightened personnel program administered through a new Bureau of Personnel and featuring employee training, health, safety, suggestions and career promotions programs.

4. Despite booming population and greatly increased demands for mail service, the deficit was cut from a reported $727 million for the 1952 fiscal year to approximately $460.5 million in the fiscal year ended June 30, 1956—a cut achieved despite pay increases and other benefit costs for postal employees which added $136 million to postal expenses during the fiscal year.

5. More than 1,250 buildings for postal use have been acquired since 1933, without huge outlays of public funds, under the Department's leasing program, from private enterprise. In addition, the Department has 47 projects approved under its lease purchase program to provide more new buildings.

6. Public acceptance was established, as indicated by many polls, for increased postage rates, to place the Post Office Department on a sound financial basis. While there was not time to complete work on this legislation in the 84th Congress, the monumental hearings and studies that were made provided important groundwork for early consideration in the next Congress.

7. A major program to meet the future, with an estimated mail load of 75 billion pieces by 1965, has been established, including advance studies on possible uses of automation in the postal service and including research on automatic mail sorting machines, automatic sorting by electronic scanning, self-service equipment for patrons in post office lobbies, mechanical parcel post sorting to replace present hand-sorting methods, and other devices and methods to take the drudgery out of the postal service and provide improved efficiency.

Summerfield noted briefly also some of the many further changes included in the list of major improvements that have marked the Post Office Department's reorganization since 1933.

Ball point pens are being provided for post offices, a new Certified Mail Service gives many advantages of registered mail at less cost, while a new Combination Mail Service permits mailing of a letter or message inside a package or publication for the first time. A revolution in improved transportation methods has been dramatized by the "airlift" for experimental carrying of mail on a space-available basis between many major cities, with 1 billion letters a year being delivered as much as 48 hours earlier. Many internal improvements in financial operations are highlighted by installation of a modern new facility at Kansas City, Missouri, to process and keep records on millions of money order forms handled by the postal service; later hours at post office windows and later collections from neighborhood mail boxes are typical of direct service improvements to the mail user. An unprecedented conviction rate of 98 per cent among those brought to trial through efforts of postal inspectors is helping to protect Americans from postal crimes, including increased activities by mail box thieves.

"The achievements of the past 3½ years clearly show a major period of progress in the postal service in such a short time," Mr. Summerfield commented. "However, to complete the job we need a sound financial structure, which we believe the Congress will provide for us next year in the form of moderate, realistic postage rates to replace our present antiquated rate structure, which has not been changed in any substantial degree since 1932."

Patrol Asks Special Care In Schooltime

The Missouri Highway Patrol announced today that the return to school for thousands of Missouri children is an event which should be noted by automobile drivers throughout the state.

Col. Hugh H. Waggoner, patrol superintendent, said, "Child safety on our streets and highways depends on the combined efforts of four groups—the children themselves, parents, teachers and the motoring public." The patrol points out, however, that in the last analysis the safety of school age children rests in the hands of the man behind the wheel.

"Where children are concerned," Waggoner continued, "a driver can be legally right but still never be able to forgive himself should his car strike down a child. I urge all drivers to be constantly alert to compensate for the fact that kids are going to be kids in spite of the best efforts of parents and teachers to train them in safety."

Parents are reminded that the time worn "Be Careful" advice to children is far less effective than is a specific and positive statement to them concerning definite hazards to be avoided as well as specific safe acts for the youngster to perform.

"There's a big difference between just telling a youngster to 'be careful' and telling him how to be careful," Waggoner said.

ASC Group Is Deadlocked On Chairman

WELLSVILLE, Mo., Sept. 1.—Members of the Montgomery County ASC committee balloted 59 times in what was ruled a deadlock attempt to elect a county chairman, Raymond D. Lowry of Wellsville, a member of the committee and a nominee for chairman, said today.

Lowry, contending he was elected on a second ballot which stood three votes for him, two votes for Ira Hall and one vote for Sidney Mehl said that ballot was ruled void at the meeting of the six township chairmen Friday.

As Lowry recounted the events of the long and fruitless session he and Ira Hall also of Wellsville were nominated for chairman of the organization in the home county of Murray Colbert, state ASC chairman. On the first ballot he said the count stood three to three.

Then, Lowry said, on the second ballot he received three votes, Hall two and one was cast by Edward Werges for Sidney Mehl.

"I contended I was elected," Lowry said. "Mr. Virgil May the ASC office manager, said that ballot should be counted out—that Mr. Werges couldn't vote a man who hadn't been nominated." He ruled to throw out that ballot. He called Columbia (state ASC headquarters) and they gave him a ruling that if the man would swear that he was mixed up in his voting that would throw out that ballot.

"Then we voted about 59 times and it remained tied three to three."

Hall could not be reached by telephone today for any statement. May could not be reached by phone

Labor Deserves Its Rest

Sedalia has gone through a cyclic transition in recognizing the significance of the first Monday in September as one of importance to Labor.

When the Knights of Labour first paraded the streets of New York on that day in the years 1882, 1883 and 1884 the event was scarcely considered newsworthy in the Sedalia press. These parades became first agitation for celebration of a Labor Day. Later workmen of all organizations aided in the movement. Oregon passed the first law in 1887 recognizing the day. June 28, 1894 a bill passed Congress making the day a legal holiday throughout the United States.

By that time Sedalia had become a railroad shops town. Skilled workers of many crafts were organized. The strength of union labor was proudly demonstrated in the Labor Day parades on Ohio street and out Third street to Liberty Park during the early decades of this century.

Picnics, parades, speeches and other holiday activities were the order of the day.

Many of us have a feeling of nostalgia for the sight and sound of blaring bands and marching workers in the spectacular Labor day parades of yesterday.

But today labor's strength does not need to be demonstrated in such manner. A dominant factor in the nation's life, it has reached the stage of permanence.

Perhaps today there is no defining the lack of enthusiasm for such celebrations. One contributing factor to the transition no doubt was the coming of the automobile and the broad network of highways throughout the state and nation.

Now union labor and everybody else celebrates Labor Day as a holiday to go places and have fun far beyond the confines of a restricted park area in town. Even so Liberty and other parks continue to have a large share of picnic visitors.

Those who may get as much pleasurable excitement out of this year's Labor day will be the stamp collectors. The day is being honored by issuance of a special postage stamp of 3-cent denomination printed in blue and white, depicting figures of a man, woman and child. The inscription is "Labor Is Life." Philatelists may wonder about the source of this sentence, but we suspect it may have been originated by an American verse-writer, Mrs. Francis Sargent Osgood who died in 1850. She penned these lines:

"Labor is life." 'Tis the still water faileth; Idleness ever despaireth, bewaileth; Keep the watch wound, for the dark rust assaileth."

A tribute, indeed, to Labor.

While the Labor Day parades of yesterday have vanished in the greater industrial age of today, the spirit of celebration has not died but changed.

May this wholesome holiday be a delight to every working man and his family who today are afforded so many opportunities for enjoyment in a nation which recognizes the dignity of labor and the inherent rights so vigorously fought for, and now acquired.

Washington Merry-Go-Round—

Congressman Requests Fishing Gear

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON. — Congressman Adam Clayton Powell (D., N.Y.), who is supposed to be inspecting Europe for the House Education committee, recently ordered the Army to furnish fishing gear for him in Germany.

In a letter that wasn't meant for publication, the handsome Harlem congressman explained he would be in Berchtesgaden, Hitler's former playground, from August 4 until September 1. The letter was addressed to Capt. Florence Nicholson, Army liaison officer, who was supposed to make official arrangements for his trip.

"I would like to start fishing August 5 and would like full equipment including fatigues and boots," Powell instructed. "I would also like two seats for the Salzburg Festivals two or three times each week and would appreciate your selecting the best available."

He deliberately went fishing during the Democratic convention, as previously reported here, because of another letter he had written to Vice President Nixon. In this letter, Powell offered to campaign for the Republicans this fall.

The reason he gave was the Democrats' schizophrenia over the civil rights issue. Another possible reason: Powell is under income tax investigation by the Republicans. One of his secretaries has already been convicted, two more indicted.

Younger's Ideal Deal

When the fog lifted south of San Francisco, you can see the name "Younger" spelled on the hillside in huge, whitewashed letters. This is a reminder to citizens of San Mateo county that their congressman is J. Arthur Younger (R., Cal.).

Some citizens have suggested unkindly that the letters must be made of Ideal cement. They refer to the Congressman's battle in Washington to help the Ideal Cement Co. get a government-owned defense plant at Laramie, Wyo. What makes this newsworthy is that Younger's wife, Norma, happens to own Ideal stock.

The company succeeded in winning the Laramie plant, but not without some strange backstage maneuvering by the General Services Administration. The Monolith Midwest Co. submitted the highest bid. Yet GSA strangely did not close the deal, but permitted Ideal to come back after the bidding with a new, higher offer.

Monolith cried "foul!" on Capitol Hill, which brought the House Government Operations committee into the picture. Younger, who had been interested in the deal all along, ended up on the subcommittee that investigated it. He properly notified his fellow investigators that his wife owned "a few shares" of Ideal stock. They expressed confidence in his integrity and said they were sure he would be fair.

How Much Stock?

Younger then proceeded to do what his colleagues had said they were sure he would not do. He championed Ideal's cause with the zeal of a defense attorney. He asked friendly questions of Ideal witnesses, raked Monolith witnesses over the coals.

How much Ideal stock does the Younger family own? This column first asked Mrs. Younger, who is supposed to be the owner. She pleaded ignorance.

"All my financial affairs are handled by my husband," she said.

This column then called the Congressman. "That Ideal stock is owned by my wife," he said. "It's her business." He finally estimated that she owned about 100 shares, worth approximately $6,500 at today's market price. He also explained that the stock purchases had been made from his wife's estate.

He did not explain, however, why he used his congressional influence to help a company in which his wife had a financial interest.

Oops Department

This column reported that Helen Ames Leete, Danbury, Conn., had contributed to Harold Stassen's "Nix Nixon" campaign. She sent Stassen advice, but not money. "My reply to Mr. Stassen," she says, "was that his timing was off and he was too late. I also suggested that Adlai Stevenson's example be followed regarding the selection of a vice presidential candidate." . . . Another column stated that our Spanish air bases won't be completed until 1963. Not so, according to the Air Force. John M. Ferry, special assistant in charge of installations, wrote: "Work is progressing generally satisfactorily, and barring unforeseen events, the four Air Force bases at Torrejon, Zaragoza, San Pablo, and Moron, including the fuel pipe line and tanks, will be ready for operation on a limited scale in the spring of 1957 and all four bases will be completed by the fall of 1958." . . . We're happy to set the record straight.

Dedicated Servant

Senator Lehman of New York is a Democrat, which in a two-party nation means automatically that his views and his record will always be challenged by some portion of the electorate.

But, as he retires, all would concede that he has been a dedicated public servant, as four-time governor of New York, as postwar UNRRA relief head, and since 1949 as senator. He never feared to speak from his deep convictions, even though sometimes he was almost a lone voice in the Senate chamber.

Both major parties can use many, many men of his caliber. His tireless devotion to public duty is an example that well deserves imitation.

BRIDES! If you married since the last election, you have to register again to vote in the November 6 election. Be sure your new name is in the book!

Thought for Today—

The field is the world; the good seed are the children of the kingdom; but the tares are the children of the wicked one.—Matthew 13:38.

Man hath two attendant angels,
Ever waiting by his side,
With him wheresoe'er he wanders,
Wheresoe'er his feet abide:
One to warn him when he darkleth
And rebuke him if he stray;
One to leave him to his nature,
And so let him go his way.

He's Grown Up Now

September

September—well—the summer's past.
How did that season go so fast?
And now we face a season new
With scads of things we plan to do,
But, lo, we feel a bit afraid
They'll be like other plans we've made,
Like things we meant to do last spring,
And yet, we didn't do a thing;
But when the summer days began
We knew that we'd complete each plan,
We'd have things ready for the fall
But now we're not prepared at all;
Our summer clothes seem not too light,
This time of year they don't feel right
And we begin to look about
To pick our winter wardrobe out;
We'll look around at what is new
And yes, perhaps we'll buy a few,
Then we will get out all the rest
From closet and from cedar chest,
Those clothes we meant to mend a bit
We'll put on to see how they fit;
And maybe we will be real pained
To see now just how much we've gained,
Or maybe we have gotten thin
We'll have to put a few darts in,
Before we look we know they'll be Too big or little—wait and see—
We're never ready, just seems queer.
When old September comes each year,
For everything starts gay and new
And nothing that we have will do,
We can't find time to sew a bit
And we can't wear things that don't fit,
We've saved a bit—but spend it all
To get dressed up in clothes for fall.

Labor Day Contest Winner Will Be One Who Does the Least

COVINGTON, Ky. —Remember the fellow who advocated a national "Do Nothing Week"?

Well, the residents of one of Covington's subdivisions have come up with a Labor Day weekend contest that calls for absolute relaxation.

And the man who relaxes the most will get the title of "Mr. Lazy."

Each contest entry will have his blood pressure taken when he gets home from work today. It will be taken again at a community picnic Monday, and the man with the lowest pressure had a good chance of clinching the title.

Chores for the weekend will include lounging in lawn chairs or hammocks and making an occasional trip to a swimming pool. As for the ladies? They'll compete for prizes in an outdoor cooking contest.

Democrat Pick-Ups

Odds and Ends
By News Staff

Four Sedalia business men were on their way to St. Louis to see a ballgame and en route on Highway 40 they stopped at a filling station at Kingdom City to get some gas. While there one of the men bought the group cold drinks and another one got talking to a man from another town he knew who happened to be stopping there for gas, too.

After awhile they started on their way again and as they were rolling along the highway one of the men wanting to pay his part of the gas bill asked: "Who paid for the gas?"

Nobody said a word at first, then when nobody spoke up, they realized that nobody had paid for it. They had just got back in the car and started on their journey, without thinking about it.

"Well," said one of them, "We will stop here on the way back and pay for it."

Sure enough, on the way back they remembered and did stop but nobody at the filling station seemed to know anything about it. There was nothing on the books, but the Sedalians insisted on paying for the gas, though they didn't know how much they had bought.

"How much does the tank hold?" asked the service station attendant.

"Eighteen gallons," said the owner.

"Then I'll fill it up and you pay for half of it," the attendant told him.

"No," the Sedalian said, "we want to make it right. Fill it up and we will pay for ten gallons," so that was the way they settled it.

Around and around the ring went the pony with the little girl on its back. It was a dull time for the pony riders; the little girl seemed to be the only customer.

Just outside the ring stood her mother watching her ride. The mother held in her hand a large summer bag of straw with a bunch of flowers on top. She felt a tug at the bag and looked down, to find one of the other ponies chewing blissfully on the flowers. They were so real looking he couldn't resist — but it was just as well she jerked them away — they didn't taste as good as they looked. They might have been a good imitation of the real thing to look at, but when it came to eating them they just weren't a very tasty dish. H.L.

Looking at the letter "R" the tiny girl was reminded of a toadstool or a mushroom.

"That," she said, pointing her finger at the letter, "looks like a mushroom!"

"Convince Labor" Program— Secretary Mitchell Plans To Present Facts, Figures

By Our Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — Secretary of Labor James Mitchell will attempt to convince the nation that Labor "never had it so good" as with the Republican administration.

Mitchell's speech will set off a deluge of Labor Department efforts to prove that labor owes something to the Republicans for its prosperity. Slick pamphlets, "fact sheets," and other material have been prepared to equip Republican candidates with a "Convince labor" program.

Mitchell's arguments include: The nation's employment hit an all time high in June with 66.5 million jobs.

Unemployment is lower than post-war high figures. July's rate was 2.8 million, compared with July 1954's total of 3.3 million.

Income has continued to soar. July's gross weekly earnings in manufacturing were $78.60. In December incomes hit $79.71, an all time record. Net spendable weekly earnings (money factory workers take home after Federal taxes) amounted to $62.33 in June.

Mitchell may raise eyebrows when he claims that purchasing power is at a "record" level. Despite the 1.8 per cent rise from mid-May to mid-July for the Consumer Price Index, Mitchell will cite how the cost of living has been relatively stable during the last three years, yet from 1952 to 1956, a worker in manufacturing had a 12 per cent rise in real spendable weekly earnings.

Another dispute may come from the administration's claim of bigger and better Social Security, unemployment insurance and minimum wages. (Democrats wrote into these laws higher sums and more expensive coverage overriding Republican objections.)

Edson in Washington—

Both Parties Tune Up Siren Song to Woo Labor Vote

By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON — Labor Day's principal interest this year is that it opens the political campaign for 17 million organized workers' votes. All signs point to a real battle for them too.

By tradition the Democratic party is supposed to be organized labor's champion, but the Eisenhower administration is now claiming that Republicans are labor's best friends.

They point to record employment, high wages and a labor union increase of two million members as their proof.

They have loosed a team of their ablest liberals to hammer home these points.

Sen. Clifford P. Case of New Jersey was moved into Detroit ahead of Democratic Presidential Candidate Adlai Stevenson's scheduled Labor Day appearance there. Case's assignment was to keynote the organizing session of a new Eisenhower Labor Committee.

Case's main theme is that the Republicans have done twice as much for organized labor in their three and a half years in office as the Democrats did in twice that period.

His charge against the Democrats is that, in spite of their pro-labor mouthpieces, reactionary Southern Democrats have blocked school aid, immigration act revision and the civil rights program backed by the big labor organizations.

As a matter of record, both parties have their violently anti-labor members. For every Sen. James Eastland (D-Miss) there is a Sen. Barry Goldwater (R-Ariz.).

When appealing for labor votes, both parties keep these extremists under the platform.

The Democratic case is based principally on the fact that the Taft-Hartley labor relations act was passed by the Republican 80th Congress, over President Truman's veto. That 17 Democratic senators and 103 Democratic representatives voted for the bill on original passage usually isn't mentioned.

But aside from this, the Democrats can claim that many of the pro-labor measures passed during the Eisenhower administration were stepped up by Democratic action.

For instance, the Democrats raised the minimum wage from the Eisenhower-proposed 90 cents an hour to $1. Social security benefits were likewise increased over the Eisenhower program. Extension of unemployment insurance, workmen's compensation and benefits to federal employees also had decisive Democratic support.

As far as promises for the future are concerned, both Democratic and Republican platforms for this year offer:

Equal pay for equal work regardless of sex. Greater aid to the physically handicapped. More protection for migratory workers. Assistance to the unemployed in distressed areas. Raising of Fair Labor Standards act guarantees.

The Republicans outpromise the Democrats on the ending of racial discrimination in employment.

On two points the Democrats outpromise the Republicans: Another minimum wage rise, to $1.25 an hour to meet increases in the cost of living. Outright repeal of the Taft-Hartley act and its authorization of state "right to work" laws.

The GOP merely promises to amend the Taft-Hartley law in accordance with President Eisenhower's recommendations, which Congress has refused to act on for the last three years.

In general, the labor union press has analyzed the Republican platform as being more liberal than it was in 1952. But it is still characterized as not going as far as the Democratic platform in meeting organized labor's goals.

The big difference this year is that the Republicans want labor's support. They want to remove the old curse that the GOP is anti-labor. The party makes much of polls that say 56 per cent of the union members favor Eisenhower's reelection.

There are bound to be some union leaders supporting the Republicans, as there always have been. But it was no surprise that United Auto Workers' President Walter Reuther has taken the lead in supporting Stevenson and Kefauver.

Nor that the AFL-CIO Executive Council voted 17 to 5 to recommend that the organization's 15 million members support the Democratic ticket. There is little doubt that the 140-union meeting in Chicago will approve the Council's recommendation.

The men with the last word will probably be John L. Lewis, whose United Mine Workers hold their convention in Cincinnati in October.

Your Child's Health—

Study of Diet Important In All Cases of Acne

By Edwin P. Jordan, M. D.

An exceptionally well written letter comes from a 14-year-old girl who is having trouble with her skin.

She says her skin and hair are oily and she is troubled with pimples and blackheads to the point that she is embarrassed.

She tries to take care of the situation by frequent washings and the application of witch hazel.

She adds that she is crazy about milk and wonders if the butterfat could be harmful, and says she does not eat green vegetables and wonders if she should.

In a situation such as this, one must assume that this intelligent young girl has what is commonly known as adolescent pimples or acne which is associated with excessive secretion of the oil glands. This is a common affliction during the teens for boys as well as girls.

This is not a simple matter and I think the correspondent, as well as others in a similar situation, should get expert help from a skin specialist or other physician.

While acne and an excessively oily skin constitute no danger to life and little, if any, to the general health they do frequently have a profound effect on the emotions and mental outlook, particularly during the sensitive teens.

In general, the line of attack is both on the skin itself by local measures and on the general health.

For the first purpose there are a number of chemical agents available which can be incorporated in lotions, shampoos, or in other forms.

The general health appears to be just as important. Many youngsters tend to break out after eating foods with chocolate in them, sweets of various kinds and sometimes other foods.

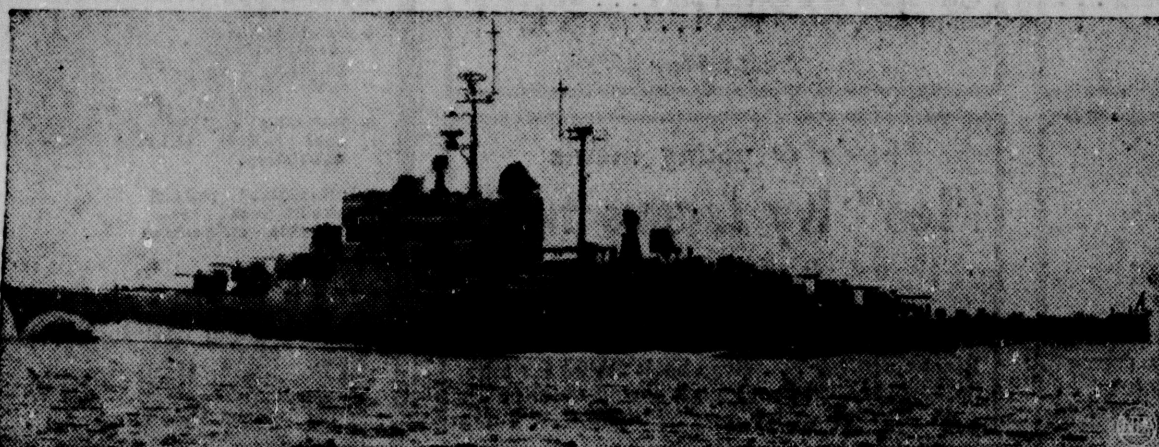

It is possible that butterfat could be undesirable for this youngster and she could certainly try drinking skim milk instead of whole milk and cutting out butter and other fats from her diet as much as possible.

However, in the area of diet as well as the treatment of the skin itself, outside advice is desirable. Fortunately, most acne does not cause permanent scarring of the skin. In more severe cases any scars can be made less conspicuous by means of a kind of plastic with a wire brush. This is a rather new development but has been written about extensively and all skin specialists are familiar with it.

I should like to emphasize once more, as I have done in discussing this subject on other occasions, the psychological importance of acne. Parents and close friends should avoid remarking about it too often.

Furthermore, someone who is "embarrassed" because of acne should, in addition to obtaining the best possible care, make a definite effort not to let it interfere with personality or social life. A youngster with acne should fight shyness and continue to participate in everything he or she would if acne were not present.

The number of licensed automobile drivers in the U.S. is about 75 million. Total U.S. population is about 160 million.

SHOWING HER STRENGTH—France's newest warship, the cruiser DeGrasse, steams out of port at Brest, en route to Toulon, where it will reinforce the French Navy standing by for possible action in the Mediterranean Sea. The 8,000-ton ship carries special equipment for nuclear atomic arm.

Air Conditioning Impresses Soviet Group on Tour

Judged by the reaction of Russia's top ten housing and construction experts as they toured America's Air Conditioned Village in Austin, Texas, recently, memories of weather made to order in the home are one of the important things they took back with them.

The unique experimental project was "one of the main things we're interested in," I. K. Kozulisa, Soviet minister of city and urban building, told newsmen. With nine other Russian housing experts he was inspecting residential units which cool in summer and heat in winter.

P. A. Spysnov, another Russian building expert from Moscow, instructed a State Department interpreter to tell his hosts he was "impressed" by the air conditioning.

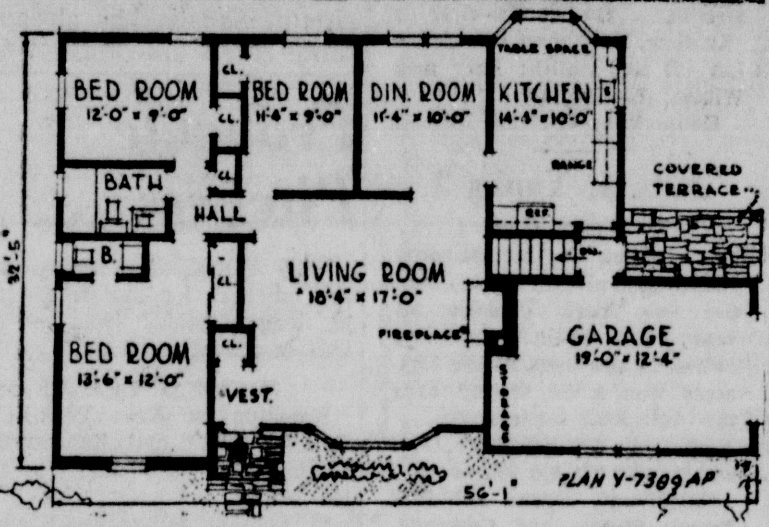

Standing under a blazing hot sun and mopping his brow, the hefty Russian suggested "maybe it's almost impossible to live here without it."

Spysnov would "like to live" in an air conditioned house himself but would "refuse to move to this climate in order to do so."

The Russians were apparently impressed by the manner in which professional organizations and private concerns — rather than the government — look it on themselves to initiate and conduct the heating and air conditioning experiment in Austin.

At one point in his visit, Kozulisa said he was "surprised" to learn the Village's 22 homes were representative of typical American air conditioned residences at prices the average family could afford.

Home and Building

A POPULAR HOUSE, this plan was used by builders at Huntington, N. Y., where 74 houses were sold in one weekend for less than $20,000 each on one-acre plots. It's a flexible plan, easily suited for building with or without a basement. The storage space in the garage provides a place for a heating plant next to the chimney, the stair space can be used for a large closet or laundry and the garage can be enlarged for additional storage. The house covers only 1,272 square feet without garage and porch which figure separately. This is plan Y-7389AP by Herman H. York, architect, 90-04 161st St., Jamaica 32, N. Y.

Appliance Abuse Costs Owner Money

Electrical appliances in most homes today are getting such "electrical abuse" from being operated at low voltage and insufficient current that most such equipment is losing the household money every day in performance value, according to the National Adequate Wiring Bureau.

But most householders probably never get a mental picture of the thermostat inside the new electric toaster ringing its hands tragically and calling for higher voltage, because they honestly don't know how it operates, or what it needs in the way of home wiring.

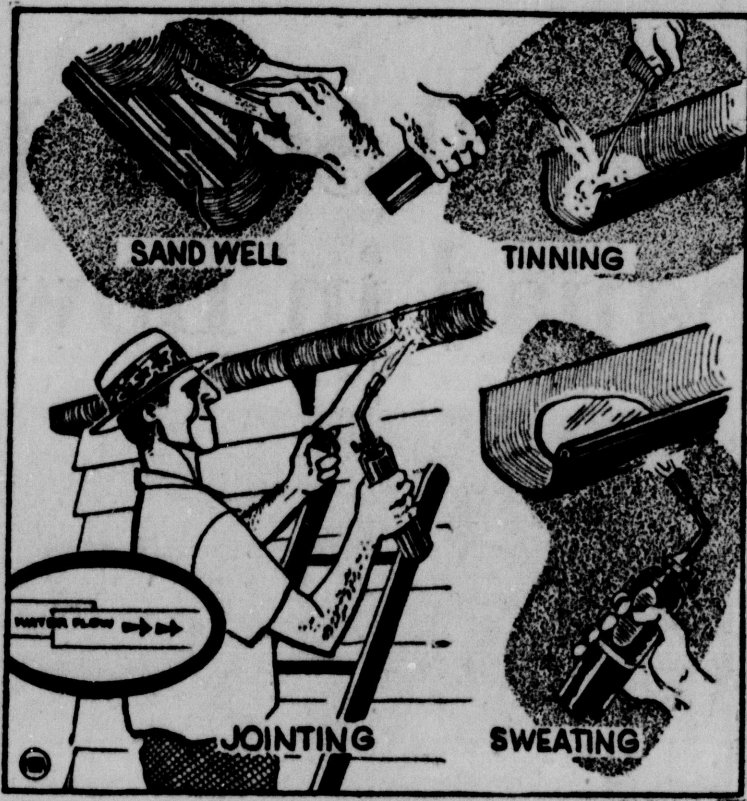

Yet, it's a fact that this is the state to which such devices are frequently reduced, the Bureau claims, when the electrical plant in the home works at such a low level of efficiency that neither enough working energy in watts nor enough voltage reaches electrical equipment through the branch circuits.

"Much of the home wiring in this country is still like the old telephone party line system," an engineer in the National Adequate Wiring Bureau states, "full of interrupted conversations, poor quality signals, parties clamoring to use the line, and everybody getting mad. Nobody's satisfied, and nobody's getting his money's worth of his appliance performance. There's just one solution — getting a modern system that can't be 'cut in on.' If people would do something about getting adequate wiring into their houses, one appliance wouldn't be fighting another one for current."

A house without enough circuits — and 80 per cent of all older homes in the country are in this category — usually overburdens the few circuits it has by making them serve so many lights and portable appliances that none gets the power it needs to function well.

As each piece of equipment competes for the scant electrical fuel at hand, and more current is drawn than the safe rating of the circuit permits, wires overheat, voltage drops. Correspondingly, timers and thermostats in appliances so equipped function unevenly. Timers and thermostats are touchy about turning out an efficient performance if the electrical pressure, or voltage behind the current, is not to their liking.

When the normal 115-125 volt circuit loses voltage to below the 100 mark, erratic operation results. This is a signal that the home wiring ought to be resurveyed.

Of all operations in soldering metal, the first is most important. The surface to be soldered should be clean, bright.

Stop Chain Reaction— Repairing Gutter Leaks Saves Breakdown in System

By MR. FIX
Distributed by NEA Service

If there are leaks in your home's roof drainage system, you are no doubt aware of them. Rain water which escapes through holes in the gutters instead of taking the downspout route may have made dirty streaks down the side of the house.

Or, it may have been blown in behind siding at the eaves and caused wet spots on inside walls, or dribbled through walls into the basement.

In states where winters are severe, water dripping from gutter leaks turns to icicles during the cold months. Unable to support the added weight, gutter brackets may bend or break. The stress is likely to split the gutters at soldered seams and result in more leaks. You can nip this chain reaction in the bud by soldering that one little bitty leak now.

When you've found the hole, bare both sides of the metal with a piece of sandpaper. "Bare" means brightly shining, clean and free of rust. If care is not taken to make the metal gleam, solder will not hold.

Next, apply paste-type solder flux to the bare metal on both sides.

Pamphlet Available On Finishing Panels

The home craftsman sometimes makes mistakes when he sets out to wood panel a den or playroom or make himself a built-in piece of furniture. A common mistake is failing to find out how to finish properly the different decorative veneers. The manufacturers of Plywood products, United States Plywood Corporation, makes available through lumber dealers and others handling finishing materials a handy pamphlet: telling how to get the best effects on both soft woods and hard woods.

Techniques for getting the so-called "pickled" and "blond" finishes are described. This descriptive pamphlet is interesting in many ways, not the least of which is the freedom used in naming the finishes possible on Weldwood Weldtex plywood. One high rounding recommendation is for tinted "woody" effect.

New Glues, Cement Help Mr. Fix-it

Nowadays Mr. Fix-it simply follows directions in using the new plastic glues and cements to get sure-fire results.

For "stronger than wood" joints, he mixes one part powdered urea resin glue with a given amount of water. This Weldwood glue is highly moisture resistant, and it won't stain the wood.

Then there's a glue called Weldwood Presto-Set which comes ready to use. It's white and does a quick setting job of bonding paper, cloth, wood, leather and hardboard. Handy, too, for repairing porcelain art objects.

Often the problem is to get glue bonds when clamping is not possible, as in the case of attaching plastic Micarta to a sink top or kitchen work surface. Mr. Fix-it does this tricky job by coating both surfaces with Weldwood Contact Cement, which is allowed to dry. By using nothing more than brief pressure, the dry glue lines bond instantly on contact. Plywood panels, rubber and linoleum can be put on walls as easily.

Central Missouri All-Stars Defeat Pony Express Squad in Bowl Game

S-C's Rudd Van Dyne Scores 3 Times for 19-6 CEMO Win

The Central Missouri All-Stars poured on the power Friday night to overcome the Pony Express All-Stars 19 to 6 in the first State Fair Bowl football game to be played in Sedalia. A capacity crowd of "everybody pays" filled the Jennie Jaynes Stadium to see a well-played game. The crowd was estimated at 4,000.

Coach Ralph "Stub" Dow, using the T-formation and taking advantage of the two former backs of Smith-Cotton High School, directed the Central Missouri aggregation as it plowed its way to victory. Tommy Noland, on his ground gains, along with those of Rudd Van Dyne, and Rudd's customary plowing through the line to cross the goal line, brought the three touchdowns. Van Dyne crossed the goal line for all three.

Jerry Roberts, former Butler quarterback, did a superb job at quarterbacking the CEMO's squad. The line was terrific and outshone the opponents in both holding and in breaking holes for their backs to go through.

Rudd Van Dyne gathered in his glory for a last appearance on the gridiron as a high school player at the stadium by scoring three touchdowns, doing his usual chore as he did for Smith-Cotton, plunging through to the goal line. Then Jerry Roberts wasn't denied a scoring chance; he booted the last kick for a field goal to add one point to Van Dyne's 18 for the 19 total.

The line of the CEMO was strong and did a fine job: Larry Gozall, St. Marys, St. Louis; John Joffe, Kansas City Southwest; Norris Kelley, Don Barbour, of Smith-Cotton; Vanderlinde, Lee's Summit; Walt Kennon and Van Van Dyne, Smith-Cotton ends, with Bobby Austin, Smith-Cotton, and Otto Sayles, Kansas City East, centers; Jimmy Kalthoff, Marshall quarterback; Jerry Watkins, Mexico, Bill Wingfield, Smith-Cotton, back; Roger McCoy, Centralia, fullback; Joe Rittman, Lee's Summit, quarterback, Russell Sloan, end, and Jack Aslin, center, Columbia; Terry Mackey, Kirkwood, fullback; Don Utterback, tackle, Mexico; and Doug Whiting, end, Lee's Summit.

Coach Al Conway's Pony Express boys were fighters but were outplayed from the very start of the game. There was little doubt as to who the spark was on the team—Phil Snowden, former North Kansas City quarterback. His movements in the backfield and handling of the team were outstanding. He's headed for Missouri University, and there will be a lot more heard from him over there.

Snowden also has a big helper in his former high school teammate, Dave Bolsenga, at end, who picked up their big yards on the passing attack. These two clicked like a well run clock.

All of Conway's boys worked hard and did their best, but were unable to stem the attack of CEMO. This is the Pony Express aggregation in the play: Darle Nespori, tackle, Bill Summers, guard, Allen Richie, fullback, all from Richmond; Arthur Corder, end, Liberty; Paul Bailey, tackle, Wayne Daniels, guard, Tim Ryan, tackle, Mike Morrow, end, Joe Cooper, halfback, Ed Conway, end, all of North Kansas City; Ralph Stone, halfback, Cameron; Norman Patrick, fullback, Les Fike, end, J. W. Mallinson, tackle, all of Independence; Duane Johnson, halfback, Fort Osage; Doug Johnson, halfback, Oak Grove; Eddie Elliott, quarterback, Grain Valley; Dwight Bailey, center, North Kansas City; Jim Meek, halfback, Smithville; Dale Strickler, halfback, Richmond; and Ronald Haggard, tackle, North Kansas City.

The CEMO team won the toss and Corder kicked off. McCoy took the kick on his 36 yard line. A first down and a five-yard gain put the ball on the Pony Express 44-yard line, and the opponents held them for downs. Van Van Dyne dropped back and punted the ball to Nespori on the 15 yard line where he fumbled and Sloan recovered.

McCoy picked up five and Noland added five for a first down. Then Rudd Van Dyne carried it over the goal for the first score. Jerry Roberts kick fell short of the goal bar.

In the second quarter the teams battled back and forth with neither team putting forth a scoring threat.

The half ended with the CEMO holding the 6-0 lead.

During the third quarter the two teams again battled back and forth, with the ball remaining in the Pony Express territory. With three minutes left in the quarter and the ball down on the 16-yard line, Van Dyne picked up 14 yards and a first down, then went crashing over for his second score. The kick was again missed.

The third quarter ended with the CEMO leading 12-0.

In the fourth stanza, after two plays had taken the ball from the CEMO 28-yard line to the midstrip, CEMO was penalized 15 yards, putting the ball on the 35. Snowden moved it to the 28. Then one of those Snowden-to-Bolsenga passes clicked for 20 yards and a first

Both Sedalia golf courses will be bustling with activity today when the top golfers in the Sedalia area will vie for berths in the first City Championship in an 18-hole qualifying round.

The 32 low qualifiers will go into match play starting Monday. The individual Labor Day matches will reduce the field to 16.

Valley AAU Will Meet In Kansas City Sept. 30

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 1.—The Missouri Valley district Amateur Athletic Union annual business meeting will be held here Sunday, Sept. 30, rather than Saturday the 29th as previously announced because of conflicting football games in the area.

The switch in dates was disclosed today by Marion H. Miller, secretary-treasurer of the district A. U., comprising western Missouri and all of Kansas.

down, putting the pigskin on the eight-yard line. On a handoff by Snowden, Doug Johnson crisscrossed and went around the left side of the line for the score. Norris Kelley broke up the place kick and the ball went wide of the posts.

Later in the quarter, the ball changed hands twice when a pass over the line was fumbled by a Pony Express end and Rittman took the ball in the air and was downed on the Express 28.

Noland, Rudd Van Dyne and McCoy put on a drive which carried the ball to the one-yard line and again Van Dyne went crashing through center for the score. Jerry Roberts made a nice kick which picked up the extra point.

Janice Fowler Named Queen Of Bowl Game

Participants in the gala State Fair Bowl football game and activities at the Jennie Jaynes Stadium Friday night were guests of the Sedalia Rotary Club during the day.

The Queen contest was held at the Bothwell Hotel during the afternoon, at which time the 17 contestants were interviewed by the judges. Prior to the game, the young ladies were guests of Rotary at a dinner given at the hotel.

Announcement of the Queen was not made until the coronation ceremonies at the halftime during the game, at which time L. C. Carpenter, Missouri's Commissioner of Agriculture, announced Miss Janice Fowler, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Fowler, Route 3, as the Queen.

Miss Fowler is a graduate of Smith-Cotton High School. She will attend Texas State College for Women at Denton, Tex., this fall.

Queen Janice was presented a beautiful plaque and a large bouquet.

Her 16 attendants were all presented corsages.

After the football game, Rotary entertained the players at a steak dinner at the Pacific Cafe. Each player was presented a beautiful belt buckle inscribed "State Fair Bowl All-Star 1954."

Sports Scraps

By D. KELLY SCRUTON

IT has been a busy two weeks for Coach Ralph "Stub" Dow and his two assistants, Howard Glavin and Bob Edmondson, working with two different football teams and building them into winners. First, they had a chore of whipping together 24 boys from various schools into the Central Missouri All-Stars to play in first State Fair Bowl last Friday night, then had their own Smith-Cotton grid team to work out and start getting into shape for the 1956 season.

It's been a wonderful two weeks though, the coaches all remarked. Of course, working with our own boys at home getting them shaped up for this season has been interesting and their cooperation was splendid in the face of having to have the time of the coaches divided between them and the All-Stars.

Coach Dow expressed his feelings Saturday night when he remarked, "Our boys realized the task we had on our hands. They really worked with us. But I must pay tribute to all those boys who came to Sedalia to work with us in forming the All-Star team. They were a great bunch of kids, and they cooperated 100 per cent and if they enjoyed practicing and working with us as much as we enjoyed coaching them, I know they had a fine time."

The Rotary Club is to be congratulated in putting over for the first time the most successful All-Star game in Missouri. I say this from the reports I received from the participants. They enjoyed playing in other bowl games, but their expressions were more of praise for the game here and that did not come from the boys of one or the other team, but from players on both.

Rotary should feel proud knowing what these future Civic Club members think of the way the practice, program and game went. Even down to the Queen contestants, they expressed their thanks and displayed their own joy of the Sedalia affair by stating they appreciated the way the Queen was selected and the way they were treated by Rotary.

A Civic Club can't lose when a program like they presented

The Tiger coaching staff has a lot of work to get underway in the next 14 days. Smith-Cotton opens its season on Friday, Sept. 14, at Fulton, playing the high school there, then treating bruises and hurts between then and the 21st when they come back home to meet St. Joseph Central high school in the first home game.

If Sedalians turn out en masse as they did Friday night, for each home game, I know the Smith-Cotton Tigers will be filled with an inspiration to go out and again capture the CEMO Championship for 1956.

Golfer Babe Zaharias Is Able to Eat Again

GALVESTON, Tex., Sept. 1.—(AP)—Golfer Babe Didrikson Zaharias was able to eat again today. Her condition remained unchanged in her fight against cancer.

The daily report issued by John Sealy Hospital said the famous athlete "remains cheerful, free from pain and in good spirits." Mrs. Zaharias was able to swallow some broth yesterday for the first time in a week. She had been fed intravenously since last Saturday.

BOWLING

Local bowlers noted the summer lay-off from bowling didn't effect Johnny Hazell any too much. Hazell in a practice session at the Sedalia Bowling Lanes opened the eyes of the old timers by rolling a 702 series. He had a 224-245-233. He put together 22 strikes and six spares.

Other fine series on the last few weeks saw some other bowlers hitting the pins for good scores. Gerold Horst had the following three game series: 611-635-629-617-610; Harold Gangna a 603; Bob Land, 605; Hazell another 605; Bob McCurdy 574-569; Don Patton, 582; Jack Vaughn, 581; and Bill Shockley, 583.

Missouri University Begins Grid Practice

COLUMBIA, Mo., Sept. 1.—(AP)—The University of Missouri football squad began its 1956 pre-season practice campaign today without Joe Wynn, veteran fullback. Wynn, convalescent from an ankle operation, twisted the ailing member last night and was back on crutches today. Coach Don Faurot said he would be lost to the squad for an indefinite period. The M. U. squad worked twice today, getting as far as a little contact work against the dummies this afternoon.

can be enjoyed by the whole family. It is considered one of the No. 1 sports in America.

Each year through league organization, millions of bowlers make new friends and experience an entirely different type of excitement and thrills of competitive sport. It develops a keen sense of team work and good sportsmanship.

There is still time to organize teams and leagues for the 1956-57 season and any organization interested can contact the Sedalia Bowling Lanes on East Second.

On Golf

By Frankie Reynolds

Today is the big day when a dazzling field of Sedalia area golfers kicks off the match play scramble for the city golf championship.

Threesomes will be sent off the tee at ten-minute intervals at both Sedalia courses, shooting for 32 slots in this qualifying round based on medal play for 18 holes. After that, the low 32 will shift to the match play runoff for the title.

Although this is the first such tournament for local golfers, it promises to be a success. And since there are no definite favorites, it appears as a wide open affair.

The tournament is being conducted in championship fashion throughout, including the application of USGA rules, announcement of the starting times and accompaniment of scorekeepers.

It is anticipated the tournament will be an annual event, which may be the something needed to accelerate the game in Sedalia and promote tournament interests.

A local golf oddity was executed by a Sedalia Country Club player there last Tuesday when Ted Maloney fired an erratic, but nevertheless par, round of golf.

Lou Boudreau Receives Release From Hospital

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—(AP)—Lou Boudreau, manager of the Kansas City Athletics who has been a patient since Wednesday in Lenox Hill Hospital, left there today.

A hospital spokesman said he understood the baseball manager was flying to rejoin his team. Boudreau was admitted to the hospital suffering from chills and fever, attributed to the after-effects of a dental extraction.

Don't worry about the way you played the two short holes though, Ted, because you can still strut over scoring two eagles in nine holes.

Redlegs Get Meyer From Cubs in Waiver

CINCINNATI, Sept. 1.—(AP)—The Cincinnati Redlegs today acquired veteran righthanded pitcher Russ Meyer from the Chicago Cubs. It was a waiver deal.

The transaction was announced after today's Reds-Cubs game had started and Meyer immediately swapped.

Regional Library Notes—

Doane Agricultural Digest Available From Boonslick

"Doane Agricultural Digest" is available for the use of readers in the Sedalia headquarters of the Boonslick Regional Library. This up-to-date supplemental service is brought up to date by new material every two weeks. Its aim is to analyze, interpret and record currently the agricultural situation and outlook, and to present up-to-date, pertinent farm management methods and practices, and state and national statistics.

Doane specializes in general reporting of crop and livestock conditions with some indication of futures. The new feeder cattle buying guide for 1956-57 has just been added.

Sections on social security taxes and insurance for farmers should be welcomed by many. Information on leases, wills and property transfers as well as farming partnerships are given. The section on government and law explains parity and parity prices and gives a discussion of the pesticide chemicals amendment to the Federal Food, Drug and Cosmetic Act. It tells about the amount of chemical residue allowed to remain on a marketable product and about the tolerances to pesticides of livestock and poultry.

Practically all phases of farm living are covered in the "Doane Agricultural Digest." Buildings, machinery and equipment are included. Best of all, an index provides for fast and efficient use of the material. It is available for reference use at the Sedalia headquarters of the Boonslick Regional Library.

Upstart Boxcar
ST. CLOUD, Minn. — "Titchy-wheels," the runaway boxcar, is back in the sheltering arms of the car barns after trying the open road with near disastrous results. Shrouded by torrential rains, the boxcar made a break for it, slipped past the passenger station and was headed for open country when a switch engine crew spotted it. Someone threw a switch just in time to head off the boxcar's early demise at the hands of a passenger train.

Ships Carried a Shrine
In the ancient days of Greece and Rome, ships carried a shrine, which usually was located aft. Little doll-sized images called "papi" (from which we get the term "popo deck") were placed in the shrines of Roman ships. Sailors coming aboard would bow to these shrines.

Divine, in New York City, was begun in 1892. When completed, it will be the largest example of Gothic architecture in the world.

CAP Work Saves Money, Time For Same Job by Air Force

The Sedalia Squadron of the Missouri Wing of Civil Air Patrol displayed its equipment and an L-4 plane at the 54th Annual Missouri State Fair starting Aug. 18 and ending Aug. 26. Sedalia Squadron is under the command of Maj. William Padgett.

Among things exhibited in the CAP show were a 10,000 KW generator which is used for emergency power both on location and in the field. Cadet Lt. Jim Black is in charge of the generator. A log is kept on the power system to record hours used and other necessary data. A smaller generator is used for a lighter load; it was used at the fair to operate the transmitting and receiving equipment. Both are gasoline operated.

A BC 669 transmitter and receiver also were on exhibit, being used in the field with the small generator. It will transmit up to 200 miles and will receive calls even farther than that. The fixed stations, both transmitting and receiving, have as their call "Bluebird" and the mobile stations are

Sales Volume Higher

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Back to school buying swelled department store volume last week in the Missouri portion of the Tenth Federal Reserve District.

Sales in that area for the week ending Aug. 28 were 8 per cent a year ago. The advance for the district as a whole was 10 per cent.

made airplanes. Lemke sent to the building fund of the Sedalia Squadron.

CAP has three objectives: 1. To assist the Air Force in search and rescue; 2. To train a cadet corps in the fundamentals of air work; 3. To promote aviation and maintain its interest.

Flying time used by the Civil Air Patrol costs the Air Force only a small part of what it would cost if they did much of the work done by CAP. Approximately $4 an hour is spent by the government for CAP, whereas if the work done by CAP would be shifted to the Air Force it would cost the government about $100 an hour. Also the Air Force would have to have 8,000 flying second lieutenants, plus their flying time and planes used by them to take on the work of CAP.

The Sedalia Squadron is composed of 20 active cadets and 33 senior members at the present time. They operate from the Sedalia Memorial Airport.

Your Wardrobe

Accessories play a tremendous part in every wardrobe today. You can spend hours selecting the basic garments, an unlimited amount of dollars, and if the accessories aren't right—your whole outfit is wrong. Good shoes and matching purses properly selected can be worn with several outfits. Well-chosen hats and gloves too can be used with different costumes and often for more than one season. Handsome unusual pieces of costume jewelry can be used too in different ways. Good belts, silk scarves and a good selection of collars will help many a simple dress or sweater to have an entirely new fresh look. To be adept at using some of the accessories to give you that individual, smart look takes time. You can check on the different fashion magazines for ways of using scarves, jewelry and other accessory accents—then at your leisure try these ideas and see how they look on you and what they really do for you. Remember it is important for accessories as well as your basic garments to be molded as a part of you, that they will not overpower you. You want people to notice you as a person, a personality first, not be attracted by a gaudy hat, wild jewelry or a wrong dress. Too, let your make-up and your perfume be mild and blend with you. Let people say "what a good-looking woman" rather than, "did you see that dress?"

If your kitchen is limited in wall space so that there isn't room for a "family" bulletin board; cover one or more of the wall cabinet doors with a cork panel. This is also decoration and "cover-up" for door panels in bad condition. Add some bright decals around the bulletin board on the doors of the cabinet.

If the bulletin board needs a border: try tacking a small manila rope or even a bright colored skipping rope around it.

Trouble Turns Into Blessings For Comedian

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Two well-disguised blessings have fallen on Danny Thomas in recent months:

1. Jean Hagen, his TV wife on ABC's "Make Room for Daddy," announced she was quitting the show.
2. Danny fell and broke his leg during a basketball game with the kids.

These events would be enough to give any comedian ulcers on his ulcers. But Danny has managed to turn such liabilities into assets.

In the first place, the absence of a TV wife has given his writers a big lift. During three years of shows, they had dredged up every possible domestic situation.

"Now we have a whole new approach," said Danny, relaxing in his electric wheel chair during the lunch break. "There are all kinds of possibilities in the situation of a widower bringing up two children. Later we'll introduce a little romance."

"We're doing show No. 4, and we're already working on the 16th script. We've never been that far ahead before."

He can thank the broken leg for some of his biggest laughs. It was written into the script (daddy fell on Rusty's skate), and he'll be laid up in the first six shows. "It has given us a lot of comedy material," said Danny, "though if I had my way, I wouldn't have resumed filming until I could walk. But we had a deadline for the start of the show (Oct. 1) and we had to meet it."

Just No Luck

SANTA FE, N.M. (AP)—When an official of the State Game and Fish Department approached four women fishing in a pond recently, he asked them if they were having any luck.

"No," one replied, "I just don't believe there are any fish in this lake."

The department man, who was somewhat "amused but chagrined," took the women off to court.

They had been fishing in one of the state's largest fish hatcheries.

Lewis Has New Co-Star For Movie

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Meet Jerry Lewis' new co-star—a chunky red-haired Irishman named Darren McGavin.

He will play the lead with Jerry in "The Delicate Delinquent," performing in the role which Dean Martin refused and which led to their split as a team.

McGavin is quite a switch from the dark-haired, Italian Martin. McGavin is an intense, accomplished actor; Martin is easy-going almost lethargic. About the only similarity between them: They both sing.

"But I won't be singing in the picture," McGavin said.

Right now McGavin is playing with another comic, fellow named Bob Hope. The actor portrays Charley Hand, the former managing editor who masterminds the political career of New York's Mayor Jimmy Walker, played by Hope in "Beau James."

Don't get the idea this McGavin is a funny fellow, just because he cajiverts with comics. He had made his mark as a dramatic actor. Matter of fact, he's an alumnus of the Actor's Studio, along with such notables as Marlon Brando, James Dean, Rod Steiger, Julie Harris, Paul Newman, Shelley Winters and that student of the Russian classics, Marilyn Monroe. Second matter of fact: He's probably best known as the nasty, mean, lowdown dope pusher in "The Man with the Golden Arm." When someone suggested McGavin to Jerry Lewis as his co-star, he comedian replied: "That nasty character? I hated him!" But Jerry was persuaded to talk to the actor, and they hit it off from the start.

Kastner wants it known that the dear little deer seen beside the road or in the woods aren't as helpless as they seem. Diamond Cuts
Today's most popular cuts for diamonds are the brilliant, a round stone; the emerald, a rectangular stone; and the marquise, an oval with pointed ends. All three cuts have 58 facets.

SHAME, SHAME—Blackie, a talking mynah bird at Detroit's Children's Zoo, has been sentenced to the back room of the bird house for naughty language. Julius, left, another zoo citizen, listens to Blackie's opinion on the matter, undecided which the bird needs more—a brainwashing or a mouthwashing.

War Cry
MEMPHIS (AP)—When the Rev. W. D. Medearis talks about wartime hysteria he speaks from experience. And his wristwatch often reminds him of it.
Back in 1942 the Church of Christ preacher was holding a revival meeting in Bristol, Tenn.-Va. when the rumor got around that his watch was a personal gift from Adolf Hitler with code instructions engraved on the back telling how to blow up TVA dams.
Ridiculous? Well, the rumor got the Rev. Mr. Medearis arrested anyhow. He speedily proved his innocence. The watch was a graduation present from his grandmother.

Smart Animals
SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Animals in theatrical performances must know how to act, says C. Y. Jones, who contracted to provide 50 head of horses and oxen for a "California story" pageant.
Jones, Hollywood animal agent, said that one of his horses once fell down on the stage in Hollywood bowl during the pageant production. "He just laid there," he said, "didn't thrash around and mess things up. That's what I mean, stage animals have to know how to act."

Some of the first volunteer Union troops sent to Washington during the Civil War were housed in the Senate and House chambers of the Capitol.

Leland Payton Wins Ribbon In Archeology

The blue ribbon entry of Leland Payton, 17-year-old Sedalia boy was pronounced most outstanding by Marvin E. Tong, Jr. Springfield, Mo. who served as Judge of the 1956 Missouri State Fair Archeology Show. His paintings and drawings included in the display to explain the remains of non extinct specimens of life showed a large amount of study and research for an archeologist of that age and was considered unusual by J. Mett Shippee, North Kansas City, Mo., Superintendent of the fine collections located in the Womens Building of the Sedalia Fair grounds.

SHADES OF ORVILLE AND WILBUR—The novel craft, above, is actually a new concept in light aircraft. The English-designed plane, called the M. L. Light Aircraft Mark I, is expected to solve the expensive problem of storing and operating planes. The wing, which is an inflated fabric envelope, can be deflated after flight, rolled up into a bag and packed into the body of the craft. The body is then towed by car and stored in the family garage. The plane can take off within 70 yards, cruises at 58 mph and has a maximum speed of 68 mph.

Considers Landrace Show Forward Step

Addition of the Landrace Swine Breed to the 1956 Missouri State Fair hog show was considered a forward step toward production of leaner pork by ringside fans who watched the show in the pavilion on Monday morning.

L. F. Tribble, Columbia, was judge of the good exhibit which had strong classes from pigs upward all of which were from Missouri herds.

The breed is considered new in this area and is popular for crossing to improve hybrids. C. M. (Jack) Kroeck, Jefferson City is Superintendent of the Sedalia Swine show.

No local winners were named.
